

James Rizzi

1950-2011

James Rizzi grew up in New York. He was a Pop Artist, Painter, Sculptor, Graphics artist and Designer. He usually created brightly colored and vivid images. He is quoted as saying that he did not like to draw from life, but liked to draw from his memory and imagination.

Pop Art

“As a pop artist, he liked to use strong bold lines, bright and vivid colors, and to let his imagination loose.....” (Cuddy, 2014)

What is Pop Art?

“Pop Art is an art movement which emerged in the 1950s. It uses images of mass media, advertising, comics and consumer products, often using bright and vibrant images.” (Sandle, 12/29/20100)

Among Rizzi’s Favorite Artists were:

Keith Haring & Andy Warhol

Rizzi's Theme

"The theme (James Rizzi) was working under was simply happiness, the joy of living,reminding everyone that happiness mustn't be taken for granted and that love for life is all around us." (Cuddy, 2014)
