Shout Outs & Reminders

• A letter about the Native American home-building project will be sent home this week. Please take a moment to review and discuss the project with your student and return the lower portion of the form by Friday. I ask for this so that both parent and student are aware of the timeline. Also knowing how busy this time of year can get, I wanted families to have plenty of evenings and weekends to discuss and think the project through, gather materials, & put it together. Please feel free to contact me with any questions about this project as students complete them at bome.

• Don't forget about Picture Retakes & extra-curricular

• No newsletter next week (since we are out 3 days for Thanksgiving Break): Let me take this opportunity to tell you just how grateful I am to have your students in our class. I appreciate how hard they work, their thoughtful answers, and all of their enthusiasm & humor. They have a true desire to work hard while still having some fun and are always willing to help in & out of the classroom. I feel blessed to be their teacher and have lots to be thankful for this holiday season.

What's going on in our classroom this week?

Reading/Writing: Students will begin conducting research on Native American tribes along side their classmates. Our class will talk in detail about note taking and writing a "high quality" summary paragraph from an informative text. We will also test over reading skills covered during Unit I - Narrative Literature.

Math: This week we will be covering multiplying decimals by another decimal and get more practice with word problems. End-of-unit test is planned for next week, Tuesday.

Science: By Thursday of this week, we will start a new unit over the earth's systems: atmosphere, biosphere, geosphere, and hydrosphere.

Social Studies: We will complete our textbook reading about the Native American tribes of the Great Plains & the Tlingit of the Pacific Northwest.
